WHY THE NAME DREOLINO?

Dreolino was the nickname of our founder, Gino Tanini. He was son of a certain Drea and apparently they looked alike, except for the fact that Gino was much smaller than his father. Hence, Dreolino.

WHAT IS LEFT OF OUR FIRST SITE?

The first door and the first tank used in the cellar have been conserved and are now shown in our tasting room, next to the cellar.

WHO WE ARE

Our cellar is an exclusively family-run business and, as such we value our roots. Gino Tanini founded Dreolino in 1939, by buying a property in the oldest street of Rufina. That cellar became the beating heart of our entire family. Since then, the Taninis have developed and cultivated a passion for the wine making process. Nowadays, our wine represents an excellent product and an example of dedicated artisanal craftsmanship.

Firstly Gino's son, Raffaello, and then his grandchildren, Luca and Sabrina, brought a structural innovation and led the winery's way towards international markets. Dreolino became a synonym of quality and guarantee. Today, the third and fourth generations of Taninis proudly lead the family' business.

Through the years, both national and international prizes have been awarded to our wines to testify that our products are appreciated by the general public as well as by the critique.

THE TERRITORY

Our wines are the true representation of the Chianti Rufina (in the map, North-East from Florence). Chianti Rufina is the smallest and the highest Chianti subregion above the level of the sea.

It represents only 5% of the whole Chianti area, and this makes us unique and one-in-a-kind. Our soil is prevalently marlstone, and this gives our products an excellent body structure.

The autoctone and most common grape of the area is Sangiovese. There are also less known grapes, such as Colorino and Canaiolo and other imported varieties, like Merlot and Cabernet Sauvignon.

OUR DOCG WINES

Our DOCG wines (Denomination of Certified and Guaranteed Origin) are the majority of our production. They are also the best representation of our territory. The blend's base is always Sangiovese grape, as this is emblematic of Tuscany.

OUR PREMIUM WINES

The almost-centenary experience developed within our winery has allowed us to develop an exclusive sector of three niche products, whose excellence and high quality are obtained through specific grape selections and wine-making processes. These products are a reserve dedicated to our founder, a Super Tuscany IGT and a dessert wine. Their production is limited to the best harvests only, therefore established year by year and, pretty often these limited editions come in numbered labels to certify their uniqueness.

OUR ITALIAN WINES

Our range of Italian wines is simple as the products themselves. Italian Red and White wines recall daily scenes, from the family environment. Therefore, we offer them in two different formats: bottles and bag in box, to ease everyday's life.
